

Shop4retail offer bespoke design service to Harvey Nichols

The design team at Shop4retail were commissioned to design and manufacture a product display cube which could be used for a forthcoming Jewellery Exhibition at the Manchester store.

Following a brief site survey of the space in which the cubes would be used we were able to gain an understanding of the light levels in the space, security issues and size. Our in-house visualisers then created 3D models of different options to enable the client to see the proposed ideas prior to placing an order.

On approval, the design for 18 was passed over to our production team for manufacturing and dispatch. The entire project from brief to installation was completed in under 4 weeks which demonstrates Shop4retail's ability to react quickly to clients need when required whilst continuing to offer a sustained service to our existing client base.
